By J. J. Morgan

Dog Ear Publishing. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 160 pages. Dimensions: 8.5in. x 5.5in. x 0.4in. Joe Gallagher, who specializes in finding missing persons, is hired by one of the owners of Precision ImportExport to find the owners missing partner, Leonard S. Cole. Cole had set up a meeting with the thief of some computer processing chips, who was finally arrested. This left Cole with some of the sophisticated chips in his possession. He had been allowed to keep some of the chips by the manufacturer as a finders fee. He wants to sell them, but the backers of the original theft want them as well, and will stop at nothing to get a return on their investment. In the beginning, no one knows about the backers of the theft; therefore, Gallagher believes that he is about to undertake one of the easiest jobs he has ever had. However, violence soon appears and the road ahead is littered with murder and tragedy. J. J. Morgan was born in a suburb of St. Louis, Missouri in 1940. He enlisted in the US Army in 1961 and served 17 months in pre-Kaddafi Libya as a topographic surveyor, spending much of his time living...
