This is a student edition of Childhood Regained - Stories of Hope for Asian Child Workers, with 9 stories suitable for Grades 4 to 6. A teachers guide is available to accompany this student edition. These eye-opening but hopeful stories bring to life some of the situations faced by millions of children working long hours in factories, mines, and quarries, and on city streets and commercial farms in Asia. This book also includes comprehension questions for each story, brief factual information on various work sectors, student activities, a glossary, and information on charitable organizations that are working to help these children. Teachers and teacher-librarians: These captivating fictional stories, organized and edited by a former middle-grade teacher and teacher-librarian, Jodie Renner, are told through the voices of Asian child workers in various situations. They are the perfect medium to engage your students and help them gain awareness of the situations of many of their peers across the globe. These stories will make a valuable additional resource for any social studies program, especially for students aged 9 to 12.
